WEAR A POPPY MEMORIAL DAY

The American Legion last fall adopted the poppy as its memorial flower and has urged that the public generally wear a poppy on Memorial Day, May 30, as a tribute to those who fell in France.

There could be no more fitting tribute. We have learned to regard the poppy as our own. Its sight must ever recall the immortal poem of Colonel McGree, "In Flanders Fields."

We grasped the flaming torch and kept the faith. Our war dead overseas numbered 75,640. The red poppies of Flanders fields, each petal a drop of blood, are constant reminders of the sacrifices made.

May 30 is dedicated to services for our honored dead. Only yesterday a transport with 6,000 coffins from France arrived at New York. These have been brought home to their final resting place. Many of them will reach their destinations on Memorial Day. Their presence will lend an added fervor to the day's exercises.

We will wear a poppy on Memorial Day in honor of those who died over there, be he American,

Frenchman or Briton, for the blood of the dead is mingled and the mixture is reflected in the glory of the Flanders poppy.—Tennessean.

FARSEEING CONGRESS

The present republican congress must be farseeing and diligent in its efforts to benefit the farmers of the country. The party promised to do this in its campaign and it is quite natural that it would want to live up to its promises.

As a source of relief the party at its extra session last fall, with a heroism worthy of the party, offered an emergency tariff measure for the special benefit of the farmers. Failing to become a law on account of Wilson's wicked veto, no delay was made at the opening of the present congress to take up the relief measure again. In order that the relief may be thorough and ample, big questions are set aside and much detail work is given to the farmer's relief. Great and learned discussions and hours of debate are spent in what the tariff should be on sheep pelts and goat skins, and whether they should be dry, salted or pickled.

Millions of dollars are being lost to the farmers because of present trade relations with foreign countries, and congress hammers away on sheep pelts and goat skins. The league of nations and commissioners to co-operate with allied countries are questions of small importance as compared with the tariff on sheep pelts and goat skins.

A resolution to bring peace between this country and Germany, which President Harding said would be enacted as soon as a republican congress could pass it and a republican president could sign it, is sidetracked and congress labors and sweats over the tariff on sheep pelts and goat skins, and whether they should be dry, salted or pickled.

Prices may go down, labor troubles may disturb business, railroad rates may go skyward, applicants for office may fume, tax-rates may advance, foreign policies may linger in the undecided mind of the president, but the downward march will likely continue unheeded until congress rescues the farmer by fixing the tariff on sheep pelts and goat skins and determining whether or not they should be dry, salted or pickled.

GOOD BOOKS

A good book is like unto a true friendship; the more one puts into it the greater the return.

Its measures are three: Knowledge, enjoyment and inspiration. Open the mind to the author and he adds to one's mental store; open the heart and he gives one joy; lend him the soul and he'll inspire one to noble deeds.

Good books are found on the shelves of good men.

A good book should not be profaned by cursory reading; the author should have the same courteous attention that one would give if he spoke.

A book should be gauged not by its literary style; nor the gold upon its cover, but by the impress it leaves upon one's mind. If it suggests higher thoughts or spurs one to noble deeds it is a good book.

Humorous writings should be clean and wholesome; one should laugh, not at others, but with them.

Good books are true friends; they will not lie, cheat, wrong nor defraud; they will soothe heartache, remove the sting from envy, shame selfishness, and brighten life. They are man's greatest gift to man.—Ex.

The Mystery of the Cook's Pet Parrot

A FUNNY paper recently.

SLIPPED ME a good laugh.

WITH A wheeze about.

A FAMOUS ventriloquist.

AND WHY he had quit.

THE VAUDEVILLE stage.

IT SAID he discovered.

HE COULD make more jack.

SELLING WOODEN parrots.

SO WHEN I got home.

I PASSED the joke.

TO OUR cook, who owns.

BOTH A speechless parrot.

AND A sense of humor.

BUT SHE muffed it.

BECAUSE SHE didn't know.

WHAT A ventriloquist was.

SO I had to explain it.

AND ON the way out.

I BLEW just a whiff.

OF CIGARETTE smoke.

AT HER amusing old.

FOOL OF a parrot.

WHICH NEVER talks.

AND I said, "Poll.

HOW D'YOU like it?"

AND TO this day.

IT'S GOT me guessing.

WHETHER IT was cook.

OR THE blamed bird.

WHICH SQUAWKED back.

"THEY SATISFY."

CHESTERFIELDS speak for themselves. They let you know you're smoking. They "satisfy" and yet, they're mild. An impossible combination, you say? Sure—everywhere but in Chesterfields. The blend does it and the blend can't be copied!

DODGE BROTHERS ROADSTER

Its preference is so pronounced that cars of two, three or four years' use are eagerly sought.

There are few of them in the market and they always command a high price.

The gasoline consumption is unusually low.
The tire mileage is unusually high.
